

FIALA NEARLY LOST HIS LIFE AFTER LEAVING ROOSEVELT ON RIVER EXPLORATION

Returns Here Alone and Tells of Dangers Passed, Relating, Too, a
Terrible Hunt When the Colonel Wore All Natives Out.

Capt. Anthony Fiala, explorer, artist and author, who was a member of the Roosevelt South American Expedition, returned home today on the steamship Denis of the Booth line. Fresh from the wilds of the Amazon, Capt. Fiala was completely out of touch with world events and learned of the trouble with Mexico at Quarantine.

Capt. Fiala had seen nothing of Col. Roosevelt since March 4, when they decided to split their party so that they could explore two almost unknown rivers. When Capt. Fiala was informed of the Mexican situation he said he was of a mind to send a cablegram to the Colonel to come home at once.

"I proceeded Col. Roosevelt from Rio Janeiro," said Capt. Fiala, "and as a result I missed all the social affairs. I went to Corumba in the province of Mato Grosso and there awaited the Colonel. He joined me on Christmas Eve and we were together until March 4.

WRECKED ALMOST AT THE OUTSET.

"We set out for the headquarters of the Paraguayan River on a Brazilian Government boat and afterward started into the wilderness with a pack train. After 400 miles of marching through an unexplored country we came to the Duvida River, which in English is known as the River of Doubt. Up to the time of our arrival no white men had ever explored the Duvida River, and the Colonel decided to follow it as far as possible. We set out from Utiariti, the last telegraph station in the wilds. Two days out of Utiariti we decided to split up our party. The Colonel said he would follow the Duvida River and I chose to explore the Papagayo River. The Colonel and I parted in a drenching rain, and I was not back two days' journey. It was a trying experience, for the rain fell as though the bottom of the clouds had dropped out.

"We met with disaster when we encountered the first rapids in the Papagayo River. I had with me a Brazilian officer and seven men. We were traveling in two canoes. Without warning our canoes went under and we found ourselves struggling in the terrific current. I sank four times before I managed to grasp hold of the branch of a tree overhanging the river. I was almost exhausted, and it was with great difficulty that I pulled myself off the bough and began a tedious passage to the bank. I think I would have fallen back into the river had it not been for the assistance given me by a powerful native member of the party who had made shore.

"When we got to the bank we had to back our way through the dense tropical growth with machetes. After that experience I began to lose confidence in the native canoe and determined to use the American canoe I had with me. The natives were skeptical of my light canoe, thinking it would be broken like an egg shell, but, as it was afterward demonstrated, the American canoe was the only thing that made our passage possible. The upset of the canoes resulted in the loss of most of my effects. Cameras, rifles, guns and foodstuffs went to the bottom of the turbulent stream. One of the natives by diving succeeded in rescuing one of the moving picture cameras and I repaired it.

"Our passage up the Papagayo, Juraguas and Tapajós rivers was the hardest experience I have ever undergone. We had to portage continually and to take our canoes out of the river and carry them overland around the many rapids meant cutting down trees and through the densest tropical growths. The rapids where I met with trouble were formerly known as the Rapids da Diabla or rapids of the Devil. When Col. Roosevelt heard of my trouble he sent word that the name

"ON TO TAMPICO"
NOW THE SLOGAN
OF REBEL ARMY

Gen. Carranza Eager to Capture Port and Make It His Headquarters.

EL PASO, Tex., May 1.—"On to Tampico" is now the slogan of the Mexican Constitutional army. Gen. Carranza's troops must have a seaport. Villa and his leading generals meet at Jimenes to-day for a conference. Enough was learned to know that Tampico will be the objective point of the next great movement of Constitutional troops. Railway lines from Piedras Negras to Monterey are to be put into commission at once, and Monterey will be made the base of operations.

MISS WILSON IN CITY
FOR FINAL SHOPPING;
TO BE MARRIED MAY 7

Ceremony Will Be Held in Blue Room of White House
Between 11 and 3.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—While no official announcement has been made, it is understood from a reliable source that the wedding of Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo will take place next Thursday in the Blue Room of the White House between 11 in the morning and 3 in the afternoon. The uncertainty, it is said, is due to the fact that members of the bridal party are awaiting the arrival of certain guests, who are expected some time that day.

Miss Wilson has gone to New York, where she will stay for the remainder of the week. Miss Margaret Wilson is already in New York. It is understood that the two sisters will make numerous shopping trips in order to finish purchasing the trousseau, which is already almost complete.

A silver service is to be the wedding gift of the House of Representatives to the bride. The service consists of a large silver, tea kettle, sugar bowl, cream pitcher, coffee pot, tea pot and two large candelabra. The motif is chrysanthemum, which is carried out with ornate detail in all the pieces, especially the candelabra. The tray, which alone weighs more than 200 ounces, has a handsome, heavily carved border and a delicate design in tracery in the center. The other pieces are in keeping with this general effect.

TO CHEER THE CRIPPLED.

Plan Pleasing Entertainment for Unfortunate Little Ones.
An entertainment for the classes of crippled children will be given by the New York Philanthropic League, Mr. Julius Baran, President, in Public School No. 2, East Forty-second street, near Third avenue, to-morrow evening. The programme will include recitations and musical selections by girls and boys and some professional entertainers.

LETTER TO MAYOR LEADS TO ARREST OF ANOTHER CRANK

Bowery Wanderer, Trapped
With Decoy Missive, Denies Threat to Kill.

HAD I. W. W. LITERATURE.

Says He Wrote to Mitchel to Warn Him When Polk
Was Wounded.

By means of a decoy letter, detectives to-day caught another weak-minded old Bowery wanderer with a desire to kill Mayor Mitchel, and with his pockets filled with the circulars of the Anarchists and I. W. W. propagandists.

Jacob Hellman, fifty-seven years old, living at No. 52 Bowery, where Mahoney, who recently attempted to kill the Mayor, lived, was the man arrested to-day. He was taken as he applied at No. 103 Bowery for his mail and took the letter sent there by Detective Burke and Foley of the Elizabeth street station. Hellman was taken immediately to police headquarters, where he was searched and questioned.

In the prisoner's pockets were found a circular headed "Thou Shalt Not Kill Either in Mexico or Colorado" and a booklet treating of the trial and conviction of Christ before the Sanhedrin. The report of the trial and crucifixion were written in modern style, much as a newspaper reporter would report a trial and electric chair execution to-day. The pamphlet declared that Christ refused to be released on bail.

To an Evening World reporter Hellman said that he was born in Germany and that he had travelled in every part of this country. He denied that he wanted to kill Mayor Mitchel, but admitting writing to him.

"I wanted to warn him," he said. "I have been a few feet behind him a number of times. He pays too much attention to Mahoney's bullet, which he made into a watch fob as a piece of sorcery. The fact that his companion was shot in the tongue shows that the Mayor is too loose with his gun. He was warned by Gallagher's bullet not to go abroad, but he would not take the warning. What if he recovered he sailed and died on the boat."

Hellman showed every sign of having had a sane and strong mind excited by the preachings of the Anarchists and the I. W. W. orators. He told the detectives that he had the only true religion, which was the "Truth itself." He declared that the churches were doing harm to humanity by keeping the people in ignorance, all of which are doctrines of Emma Goldman and her followers and the Tannenbaumites.

Before Magistrate Levy Hellman declared that he had sought only to warn the Mayor and not to harm him. He admitted that he had been in an insane asylum in Havana for ten years. His letter to the Mayor was headed "Warning," and the text was rambling and confused matter, through which ran hints that if the Mayor did not look out his enemies would catch him in their net, as Gaynor's did. In the letter he declared capital punishment and called Gov. Glynn a high-toned scoundrel. Hellman was sent to Bellevue for ten days' study as to his mental condition.

THE TEXAS AND WYOMING GETTING READY TO SAIL

The First Is In Dry Dock and the Other Is Taking In Stores to Get Away in a Week.

The Texas went into Dry Dock No. 4 in the Navy Yard to-day and orders were sent to Iona Island to have her fourteen and five-inch shells here by Saturday, May 9. It is thought she will sail on May 11.

The Wyoming was taking on stores to-day and she is to leave the yard on the 7th.

In the yard now there are nine submarines, two parent boats, the Ozark and Tonopah; the destroyers Parker, Benham and MacDonough, the gunboats Machian, Marietta and Isla de Luzon and the supply ship Washington.

ELEPHANT A BILLBOARD.

Sheriff Pastes Attachment for $200
on Tongo's Hide.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., May 1.—Sheriff Ladrigan was called upon this morning to attach Wheeler Brothers' trick elephant Tongo, which had lived up to her name by doing a "lame duck" sidwars during the parade yesterday, when she accidentally bumped a horse owned by Lawrence Flynn. The horse landed in the gutter and died in two and one-half seconds.

Ladrigan wanted $200 damages for the killing of the horse. Wheeler Brothers said the horse was worth $40. Ladrigan had brought a bill poster along and he pasted a notice of attachment upon Tongo's brawny side. Wheeler Brothers paid the $200.

Friendship and Sympathy Will Save Young Girls Where Restraint Will Fail

Minimum Wage System
Wouldn't Save Them,
Mrs. Marion M. Gold-
man, a Rescue Worker,
Says, as Some Would
Be Bad on $2,000 a Week.

By Marguerite Moore Marshall.
In the last year 1,508 girls who needed help were cared for by the New York Probation and Protective Association.

Employment was found for 487 girls through the employment exchange of the association. Medical care was given to 178 girls, 101 girls, and 35 girls were returned to their homes in other cities. During the year girls paid 1,446 visits to Waverly House, No. 28 West Tenth street, where 294 young women found a temporary home. Workers and investigators for the association made 11,087 visits and investigations in the course of the past twelve months.

In this tabular form is summarized some of the most significant work accomplished by the group of sympathetic, intelligent women who so completely reverse the traditional feminine attitude toward the Magdalen. For women are the most active aids in the comparatively modern attempt to prevent the waste of womanhood. To-day Mrs. Marion M. Goldman, investigator for the Probation association, told me something of the organization's remarkable campaign during the brief five years of its existence.

"We have divided the city into districts," she explained, "and each district has its special protective officer. The courts, the police, philanthropic institutions and individuals are constantly reporting to our central office, at No. 130 East Twenty-second street, girls who are in trouble or who are on the verge of trouble. According as the girls live in the Bronx or Harlem, or the east or west sides, she is reported to the protective officer in charge of her special district. The latter takes personal direction of the case and decides what course shall be followed.

"We always try to establish close personal relations with the girl in difficulty. The first time one of us visits her she probably won't tell the truth. She has a distrust of what she calls reformers. She thinks them rigid and inhuman. She expects them to tell her that the whole world is arrayed against her, because of her sins. Once she is convinced we want to help her, instead of scolding her, she is almost sure to respond. The girl under twenty-five can usually be reformed. EVEN THE WORST ARE GLAD TO REFORM.

"Yes, even the girl who has been on the streets," asserted Mrs. Goldman, in response to my slightly incredulous glance. "She gets dreadfully tired of her life in a wretched furnished room, without even the certainty of being able to pay her weekly rent. She usually persists in her course because she is unable to do anything else. You've no idea how untrained many of these young ones are.

RUNAWAY HORSE INJURES EXPERT WOMAN RIDER

Mrs. Ladenburg Badly Hurt
When She Is Dumped From Rig Near Westbury.

Mrs. Emily Ladenburg, recognized as one of the most daring woman cross-country riders in New York, was severely injured last night while riding to her home at Hempstead Plains, L. I. from the station at Westbury.

On alighting from a train Mrs. Ladenburg was met by a coachman driving a spirited horse to a light vehicle. The coachman and Mrs. Ladenburg had not gone far from the station before the horse took fright, aimed the bit between his teeth and started at a gallop.

In his efforts to get the horse under control the coachman broke the reins. The horse swerved to one side and the vehicle, running into a ditch, threw Mrs. Ladenburg and the coachman out.

The coachman was not hurt, but Mrs. Ladenburg lay on the road semi-conscious. When she was picked up it was found that one of her arms was broken below the shoulder, her head and face cut and bruised and injuries inflicted on her body.

A passing automobile stopped and the coachman explained that Mrs. Ladenburg needed immediate attention. She was carried to the automobile and hurried to her home.

Dr. Louis M. Lashart of Hempstead was called to attend her. At first it was thought that Mrs. Ladenburg was seriously, perhaps mortally, hurt. The physician said at midnight, however, that her condition was not as bad as was at first thought and that, while she was seriously hurt, there was no doubt that Mrs. Ladenburg would recover.

BROOKLYN BABY CONTEST AT WILLOUGHBY ENDS

The Evening World Cash Prizes
May Be Awarded the Last of Next Week.

Eight babies out of 104 will be named as prize winners in the better babies contest conducted by The Evening World and the Babies' Welfare Association at Wiloughby House Settlement, No. 97 Lawrence street, Brooklyn, which finished yesterday.

For days to come the physicians who made the final examinations will be working over the score cards of the contestants, and comparing the results of this last test with that held three months ago. It is already plain that many individual babies have improved markedly. And it will be a difficult task to pick out the four best babies and the four most improved babies, each of whom will receive a money prize offered by The Evening World.

In addition, some fifteen or eighteen babies will probably be marked for honorable mention and receive red or blue ribbons. The date on which the awards will be known has not yet been fixed, but it is hoped that the judges will come to a decision before the end of next week.

Are Sincere.

ROME, May 1.—Monsignor Thomas F. Kennedy, rector of the American College in Rome, was received in private audience by the Pope to-day. Monsignor Kennedy, who has just returned from the United States, conferred with the Pontiff concerning the Mexican situation. The Pope was greatly interested.

The Vatican has been informed officially that both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan are sincere in their efforts for the welfare of Mexico and the establishment of peace.

Cowgirl Hurt in Cripple.
Mrs. Teana Binder, twenty-two years old, a cowgirl in the 181 Ranch show at Madison Square Garden, was severely injured yesterday afternoon when her mount became unmanageable as she was about to enter the arena. She was thrown against a wall on the fourth avenue side of the Garden. She was removed to New York Hospital.

girls in moderate circumstances to obtain the right sort of recreation in New York is undoubtedly a contributory cause to the girls' downfall. In the cheap dance halls and cabarets are the beginnings of much delinquency.

"Do you feel that the minimum wage will settle this problem of girls going wrong?" I asked. "Will every girl be good on $13 a week?"

"I've known some who wouldn't be good on $2,000 a week," Mrs. Goldman responded promptly. "No, the solution will be much more gradual. Prevention work will continue to be emphasized. And also the girls who have made one misstep must be taught that their whole lives are not, therefore, doomed. One of the most hopeful features of our work is the fact that so many girls whom we have helped are now happy and respected wives and mothers."

1,500 AMERICANS IN MEXICO CITY; ASK ENGLISH AID

United States Citizens Cannot Get Trains for the Sea Coast.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Consul Canada at Vera Cruz reported to the State Department to-day that there still are 1,500 Americans in Mexico City, unable to get out because of interrupted railroad facilities.

These are, for the most part, war arrivals in the Mexican capital from the surrounding country. They arrived just after the departure of the last train for Vera Cruz.

Consul Canada has asked the British Minister and Admiral Cresswell, the British commander, to exert their efforts to restore railroad communication with the capital.

NEW ORLEANS, May 1.—Thirty-six refugees from Mexico, the first to be released from quarantine, left to-day for their homes. Twenty-one came from Progress on the Wyo-brook, and fourteen were brought from Frontera on the Livingston.

Nearly 700 refugees are at the detention camp here, and are to be released within forty-eight hours.

When a canvass of the refugees aboard the collier Jason, at quarantine, was taken yesterday, 1,500 Americans were found. Officers expressed the opinion they had scrambled aboard without being noticed. They will be deported.

VERA CRUZ, May 1.—Forty-two refugees who arrived last night on the Leland steamer Dictator from Puerto Mexico were transferred to the steamer Monterey last night. The transport Hancock, with other refugees from Puerto Mexico, arrived off the harbor at midnight and transferred her passengers early to-day. The Monterey will take the refugees to New Orleans.

Listed as members of the crew of the steamer Antares, which arrived to-day from Frontera, Mex., were four American refugees. They had joined the crew because the steamer was not allowed to carry passengers. They were: E. Wetmore, third mate; D. Fultz, supercargo; E. Johnson, carpenter; Mrs. Johnson. They said they left behind forty other Americans, who were being constantly annoyed by mobs. None of the refugees knew that American troops had landed in Mexico until the Antares reached Sandy Hook.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure any one, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the "drain" and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.
